

The map shows the Rhine River flowing from the North Sea in the north, through the Netherlands (Amsterdam, Rotterdam), Belgium, Germany (Ibersheim, Worms, Heidelberg), and Switzerland (Basel, Zurich). The river eventually flows into the English Channel, with a line indicating the route 'To Philadelphia'. Surrounding countries include England, The Netherlands, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, and Switzerland. An inset painting in the bottom left corner depicts a man in a blue coat and hat standing next to a woman in a blue dress, both looking at a small object in the man's hands.

A painting of a three-masted sailing ship, likely a clipper, sailing on a choppy sea. The ship has large, light-colored sails and a dark hull. A small boat is visible in the foreground on the left, and a distant city skyline is visible on the horizon.

- Religious persecution
- Devastations of almost 100 years of war
- Bitter winter of 1708-1709—coldest in more than 100 years
- Oppressive taxation (especially on Anabaptists)
- Desire for adventure and land ownership
- Attractive advertising by the proprietors of Pennsylvania and the Carolinas

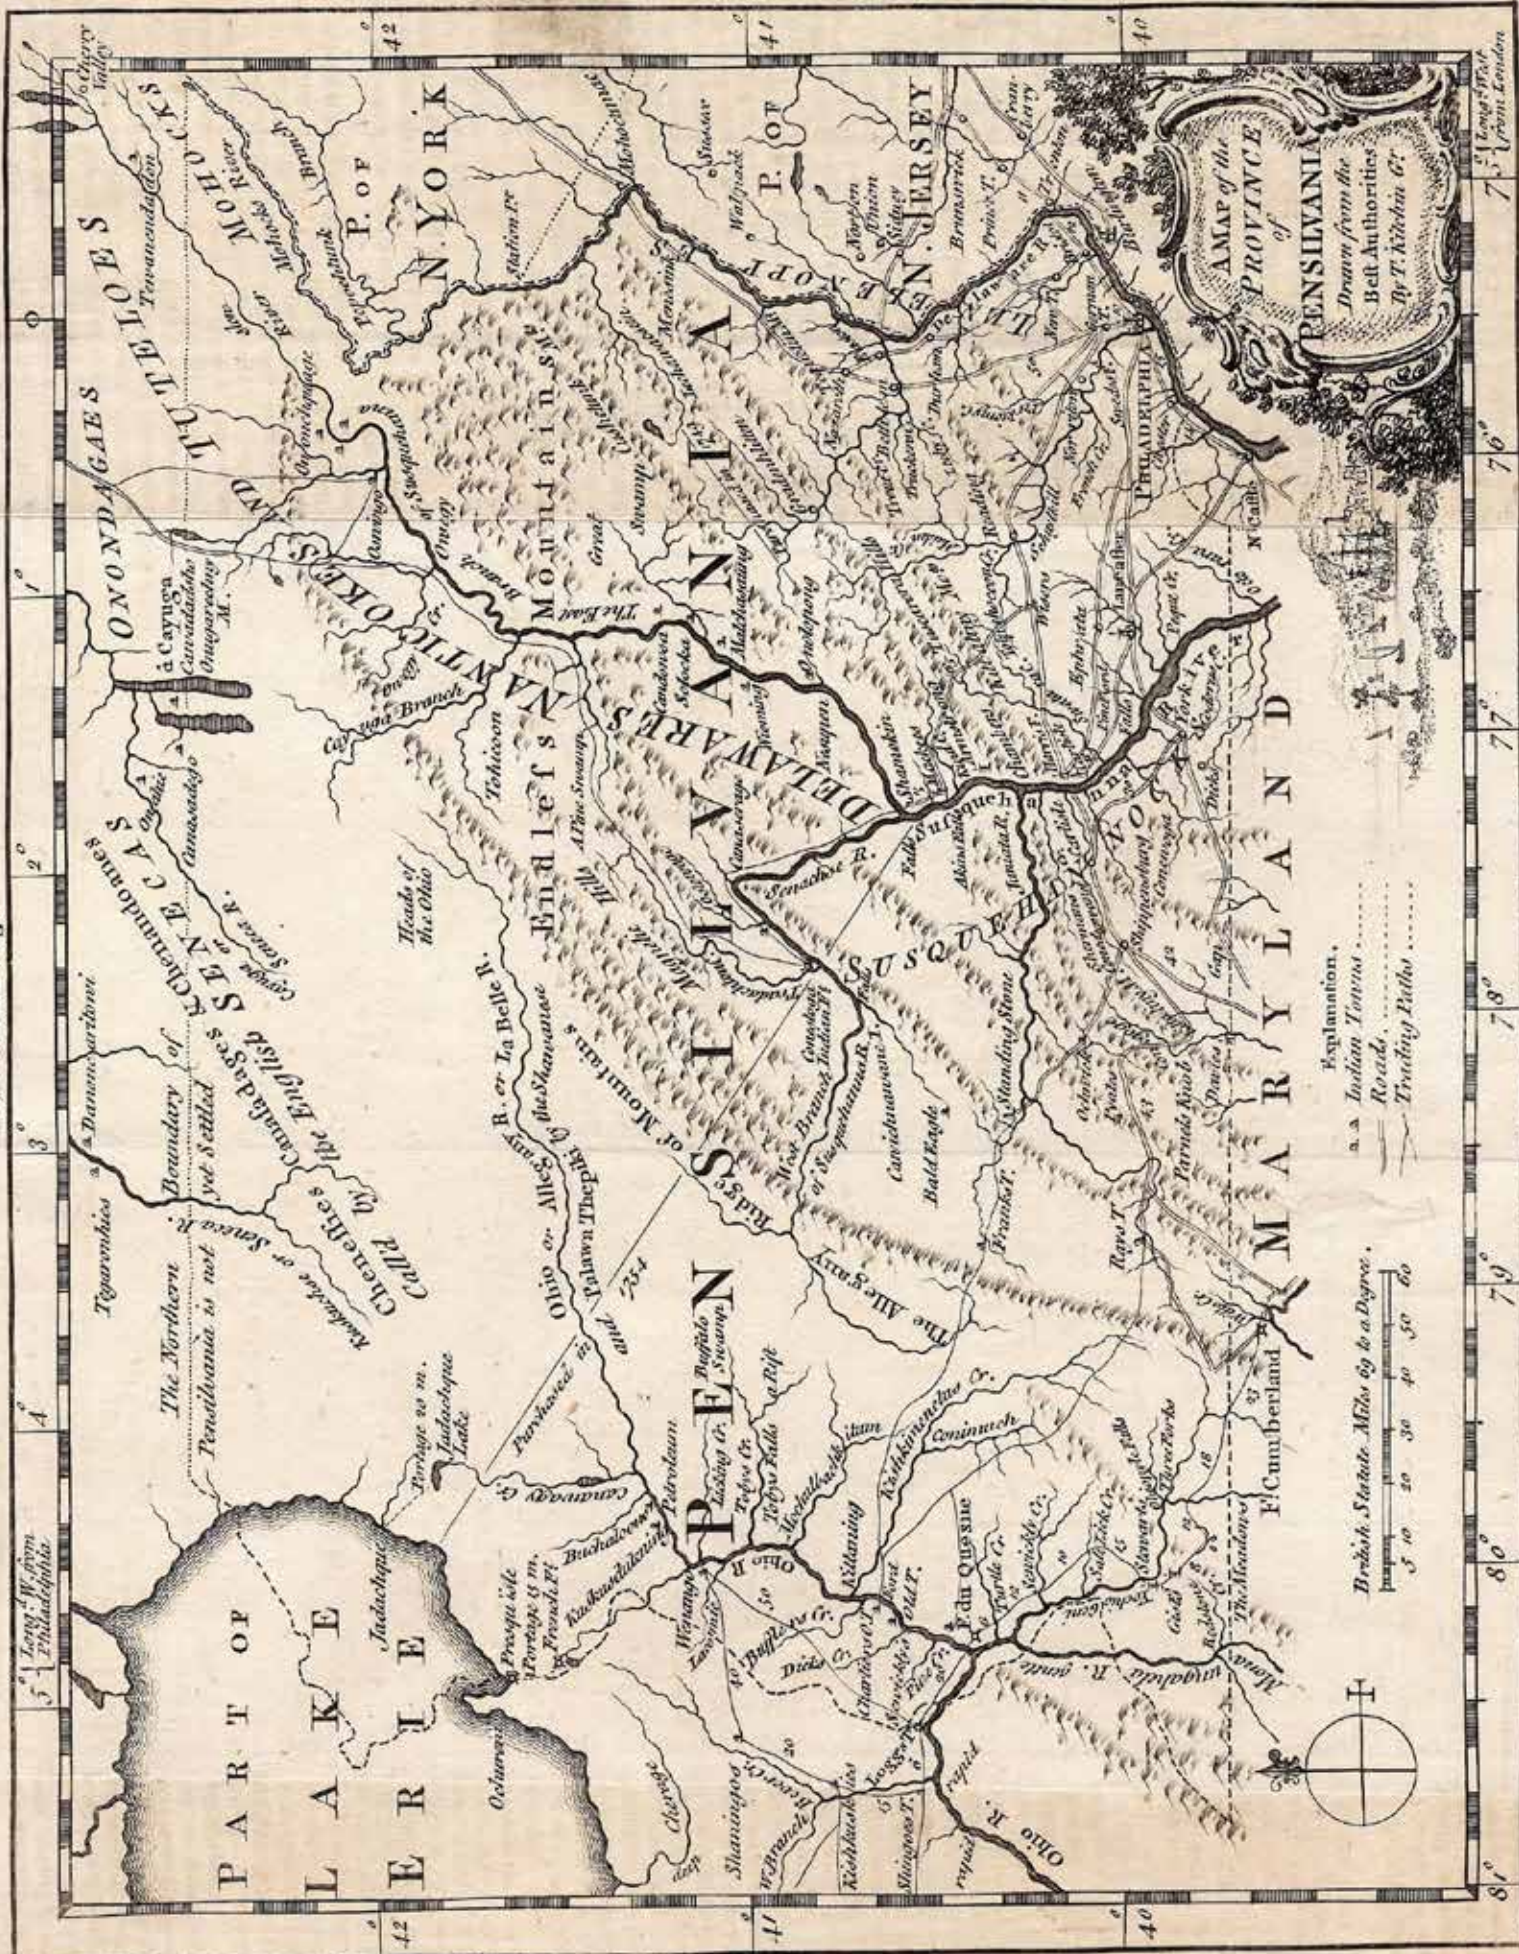

34 To East Perspective View of the City of PHILADELPHIA, in the PROVINCE of PENNSYLVANIA, in NORTH AMERICA, taken from the JERSEY Shore.

1. Bank Church	2. Meeting House	3. Dutch Reformed Church	4. Quaker Meeting House	5. Meeting Street	6. Pine Street	7. Dock Street	8. The other Church
9. State House	10. Philadelphia Church	11. The Court House	12. High Street Wharf	13. High Street	14. Third Street	15. Fourth Street	16. The other Church

Engraved from the Original Drawing by John B. Smith, and published by J. B. Smith, at the Sign of the Ship, in the Strand, London. 1742.

For the Lond. Mag.

Explanation.

Indian Towns

Roads

Trading Paths

British Statute Miles 60 to a Degree.

